Dear Sisters, Brothers, and Children in Jesus Christ,

Respectability is not the standard of Christian discipleship. Christianity consists of doing positive things while respectability can be achieved just by avoiding negative things. Jesus confronted the rich young man who came running to him with a challenge. In effect he said, "Get out of this moral respectability that you are caught up with. Stop looking at goodness as consisting in not doing things. Take yourself and all that you have and spend everything on others. Then you will find true happiness in time and in eternity." The young man could not do it. He had great possessions, which it had never entered his head to give away and when it was suggested to him he could not. True, he had never stolen, and he had never defrauded anyone--but neither had he ever been, nor could he compel himself to be, positively and sacrificially generous.

It may be respectable never to take away from anyone. It is Christian to give to someone. In reality, Jesus was confronting this man with a basic and essential question--"How much do you want real Christianity? Do you want it enough to give your possessions away?" And the man had to answer in effect, "I want it--but I don't want it as much as all that."

It was the malady of not wanting enough which meant tragedy for the man who came running to Jesus. It is the malady from which most of us suffer. We all want goodness, but so few of us want it enough to pay the price.

Yours in Christ Jesus,
Fr. C. P. Varghese
