Dear Sisters, Brothers and Children in Jesus Christ,

The theme for today's liturgy is announcing the good news to the whole world. It is not a task given to a chosen few, but rather it is entrusted to every baptized Christian.

In the first reading, Isaiah announces the good news to the returned Babylonian exiles that the ruined and desolate Jerusalem will take care of them "as a mother comforts her baby son." Isaiah assures the returned Jews that they will live in the certainty of Yahweh's promises of love, protection, prosperity and salvation.

In today's Responsorial Psalm, Ps 66, the Psalmist urges, "sing praise to the glory of God all the earth," because of the wonders He has done. In today's second reading, Paul removes the confusion created by the Judaizers, in the minds of the new Gentile Christians of Galatia. He clearly conveys the good news that it is Jesus' death on the cross which brings one's salvation and not Jewish heritage or practice of Torah laws. Paul reminds us that the mission of each member of the Church is to bear witness to the saving power of the cross of Christ through a life of sacrificial, self-giving service.

In today's Gospel, Luke describes the fulfillment of the prophetic promise made by Isaiah, in Jesus' commissioning of 72 disciples to preach the Gospel or the Good News of God's love and salvation in towns and villages in preparation for his own visit. Jesus gives the paired disciples "travel tips" for their missionary journey. They must be walking witnesses of God's providence by relying on the hospitality of others, living very simple lives, preaching the Good News and healing the sick. Today's Gospel reminds us that the 1.5 billion Christians in the world today have the mission of the 72, to proclaim the Gospel of Christ to the other 4.5 billion non-Christians.

Life messages from today's readings are that 1) We need to continue Christ's mission by proclaiming the Good News 2) We need to avoid giving counter-witness in today's world and 3) The modern world needs the heroic witnessing of martyrs. Are we ready to do?

Yours in Christ Jesus,

Fr. C. P. Varghese

Pastor
